

AURIS

Auris is an early to medium early potato variety that is ideally suited to industrial French fry production due to its early ability for frying and very uniform tuber shape. The light-yellow flesh colour and excellent texture promise high-quality fast-food fries.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT AURIS:

- Very low susceptibility for damage and bruises
- Perfect early frying colours
- High tolerance against common scab
- Resistance against nematodes Ro1,4
- Resistance against wart disease Fysio 1

Maturity: early to medium early. Tuber Shape: big, uniform, long oval with shallow eyes, light yellow flesh- and skin colour. Processing: excellent suitability for French Fries production.
Yield: high.