

JORIS

JORIS is a medium-early potato variety that is ideally suited for crisps production due to its round tuber shape and good frying qualities. Joris also has very good nematode and wart disease resistance. The low susceptibility to damage makes it perfect for long term storage.

Some interesting facts about JORIS:

- Rapid early growth
- Low susceptibility to damage
- Good frying colour, even after long-term storage
- Stable dry matter
- Resistant to nematodes Ro 1,4; 2,3; 5
- Resistant to nematodes Pa 2,3
- Resistant to wart disease Fysio 1; 2; 6

MATURITY:	medium early
TUBER SHAPE:	round oval with light yellow flesh and skin colour
PROCESSING:	excellent suitability for the production of crisps, very low acrylamide content even after long-term storage
YIELD:	high

